Judaism Must be Abandoned!

"They must make their choice between Christianity and Judaism, for the two cannot be amalgamated. Christ's death 'without the gate' was the symbol for His being cast out of the community and religious life of the Old Testament Israel. To realize the full power of His redeeming work, His followers must abandon 'the camp'—the sphere within which the religious life and ordinances of Israel prevail—and must go forth to Him. To be branded as a traitor and to be deprived of Jewish privileges is 'the reproach of Christ.' This His followers must share."

Dawson Walker, Hastings Dictionary of the Apostolic Church, (1918), 318.
